

Berlin Station Factsheet

In September 2018, construction was completed at the new CTrail Hartford Line station in Berlin, following its opening prior to service launch in June. Construction of the station began in December 2014 and cost approximately $21 million.

Station Location:

The new Berlin Station is located at 51 Depot Road, adjacent to the site of the former historic Berlin Station.

CTrail Fares and Parking Pricing:

- Hartford Line fares and schedules are available at hartfordline.com.
- A 235-space surface lot at the station is available to Hartford Line customers and the public.
- Parking at the station is $2 per day or $20 per month.
- Parking is free on weekends and federal holidays.

Station Amenities:

- High-level platforms to facilitate safe and efficient passenger boarding.
- Stairways and two elevators connecting to an overhead pedestrian bridge for safe and convenient access between the platforms.
- Overhead canopies covering approximately 50% of the platform length to shelter passengers from direct sunlight and precipitation.
- Automatic snow melting system to quickly melt snow and ice during inclement weather for passenger safety on the platforms.
- Passenger information display system providing real time rail service updates.
- Security cameras and Blue Light emergency call boxes for passenger safety.
- Ticket vending machines, providing quick and easy ticket sales.
- One electric vehicle charging station in the station parking lot, allowing for two vehicles to charge at once.
- Bicycle racks with capacity for up to eight bicycles to accommodate multimodal connections.

Hartford Line Service:

Launched on June 16, 2018, the new CTrail Hartford Line passenger rail service increases the number of trips servicing the new Berlin Station. Hartford Line service features 17 daily round trips between New Haven and Hartford, with 12 of these trips continuing north, terminating at Union Station in Springfield, MA. Trains operate at speeds up to 110 mph, with a travel time between New Haven and Springfield of approximately 81 minutes. The Hartford Line service provides direct or connecting service to New York City, Boston, and Vermont, and several local bus routes.
